CROSBY WOMAN SLAYS ANOTHER WITH KNIFE

MARY KARTICH HELD ON MURDER CHARGE TODAY

JEALOUSY OVER HUSBANDS BELIEVED TO HAVE INFLAMED WOMEN

KATIE BOSEKEVICH WAS FOUND DEAD ON KITCHEN FLOOR OF HER HOME

Mrs. Katie Bosekevich is dead with a deep knife wound in her chest between the first and second rib from the top, and Mrs. Mary Kartich is held in the Crosby jail charged with murder, following differences threatened yesterday at 4:30 P. M. at the Bosekevich home in Crosby.

The quarrel, it is claimed, arose through jealousy over their respective husbands in the affair. Mrs. Kartich, inflamed, it is reported, grabbed a butcher knife and drove it with full force into Katie Bosekevich's chest. The victim died on the kitchen floor before Dr. Smith, of Crosby, arrived.

The dead woman was married and living with her husband, while the accused woman is married but is said not to be living with her husband. While Mrs. Kartich has as yet not given a reason for her act, jealousy over their husbands is claimed to have been the initial reason for the commencement of the fracas. Both women are Austrians and are over 50 years of age. Mrs. Kartich, when arrested, said she had been drinking moonshine and that her victim had also been drinking moonshine.

The stabbing took place after Mary Kartich had beaten Katie Bosekevich almost senseless over the head with a stick.

George Paupin, Crosby, was a witness of the affair and he will tell what he saw, at the inquest to be held today at Crosby.

Fred Hascamp, chief of police at Crosby, made the arrest. Sheriff Reid and County Attorney W. F. Wieland left for Crosby as soon as they received the call.

Coroner's Inquest and Arraignment

A coroner's inquest held over the remains of Mrs. Katie Bosekevich of Crosby, returned a verdict that she came to her death from a blow of a knife in the hands of Mrs. Mary Kartich. The jury met at the undertaking rooms of A. L. Humble of Crosby.

This afternoon Mary Kartich is to be arraigned on a charge of murder in the first degree.

Dr. F. S. Shannon, Crosby, at the coroner's inquest, testified that the wound made by the butcher knife was six inches deep and a half inch wide. There were also wounds on the head where the woman had been struck with a birch stick.

The woman was struck down as she stood between the bedroom and the kitchen of her home and fell in the bedroom where she died.

George Poppon testified he did not see the killing, but saw Mary Kartich come in with the knife in her hand.

As near as can be ascertained, the quarrel did not hinge on jealousy and is believed by some to have been over money matters involving five dollars.

Nick Cristella testified he lived in the house opposite the home where the murder was committed. He saw Mary Kartich travel three times to the Bosekevich home. The first visit resulted in a lot of argument. On the second visit, he testified that Mary hit Katie over the head with a stick and knocked her unconscious in the yard.

The third visit occurred about 5 P. M. Sunday and that was the last. Mike Bosekevich, husband of the slain woman, also testified.

Threat of Rain Greets State Primary Election

GIVES UP TRY AT 1,000 MILE WALK WITHOUT FOOD

New York, June 21.—(UP)—George Hasler Johnston, who started to walk from Chicago to New York without food, abandoned his attempt today at Summit, the highest point in the Allegheny mountains. He had covered more than half the distance and had set what is declared to be a world's record for walking without food.

The trip was abandoned when Johnston's condition became such that he could not continue.

COMES TO AID OF HIS MOTHER, SHOOTS FATHER

HAROLD OWENS, MILWAUKEE,
SHOOTS AND KILLS PARENT,
JOSEPH OWENS

LATTER HAD FIRED TWO SHOTS
AT MRS. OWENS AND AIMED GUN FOR THIRD

Milwaukee, June 21.—(UP)—Coming to the aid of his mother, who had narrowly escaped being killed, when two charges from a shotgun in the hands of his father had gone wild, Harold Owens, 33, shot and killed his parent, Joseph Owens, 62.

The father, according to the son, was taking careful aim to fire a third shot at his mother when he sent two charges at his parent, both shots taking effect. The elder Owens fell to the floor and died, as police, who had responded to a call from the house, arrived.

The younger Owens told the officers what had happened and then collapsed, as did his mother. They were revived and taken to central police station for questioning.

Mother, father and son were alone in the house. The son was on the first floor, while the mother and father were on the second floor. The son heard a scuffle, his mother screamed and rushed for the stairs. Then two shots rang out.

The son, grabbing a shotgun from the wall of his den, went to the aid of his mother. He saw his father taking aim. The son raised his weapon and fired and the elder Owens fell mortally wounded. Two shots were fired, both taking effect.

The son then telephoned the police, went to his dying father, who breathed his last as the police arrived.

POINCARÉ MAY ENTER CABINET OF BRIAND

EDOUARD HERRIOT'S ATTEMPT AT CABINET MAKING IS A FAILURE

BRIAND AND POINCARÉ CONFER,
BUT REFUSED TO COMMENT ON RESULTS

By A. L. BRADFORD

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Paris, June 21.—Ex-Premier Raymond Poincaré has agreed to enter a cabinet being formed by Aristide Briand.

Briand again undertook the task of building a government following the failure yesterday of Edouard Herriot's attempts to complete a ministry.

Briand and Poincaré conferred for half an hour this morning but Poincaré on leaving the conference, refused to comment on the subjects of discussion.

Briand, however, told the United Press conference with Poincaré that he was still willing to collaborate in his cabinet, which will include men capable of showing the country that politics must now be a secondary question.

"The situation is difficult," he continued, "but when a building is starting to burn, all tenants must forget their personal quarrels and rush to help. We must do likewise, because of the financial situation, which is now the paramount consideration. I am keeping this idea first in my mind."

CHILDREN'S DAY AT EUCHARISTIC CONGRESS, CHICAGO

CHORUS OF 62,000 VOICES RAISED IN MASS OF THE ANGELS

FIRST PILGRIMS GATHER AT 3
A. M. FOR THE CEREMONIES

Monday's Program
10 A. M.—First general meeting at Soldiers' Field, the giant municipal stadium in Grant Park. Addresses by Michael Cardinal Von Faulhaber, archbishop of Munich, David I. Walsh, United States senator from Massachusetts; Louis Cardinal Dubois, archbishop of Paris, and Archbishop Daniel Mannix of Australia.

11:50 A. M.—Solemn pontifical high mass with John Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate as celebrant. The mass will be sung by a chorus of 62,000 children from the Catholic schools of Chicago, the largest choir ever assembled.

Sermon by Archbishop Michael J. Curley of Baltimore.
2 P. M.—Sectional meetings throughout the city, with each tongue represented at the congress, holding a meeting of its own. (The English speaking meeting will be in the Coliseum).

By J. L. O'SULLIVAN

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Soldiers' Field, Chicago, June 21.—Rain clouds hung low in the sky today as great throngs moved toward this stadium to witness an ancient church bring forth gorgeous pomp and splendid ceremony to assist its little children in honoring their Blessed Eucharist.

Children's day of the Eucharistic Congress with a chorus of 62,000 voices to be raised in the mass of the angels, attracted the greatest congregation of untold numbers gathered in Chicago to pay tribute to Jesus Christ as God.

A high wind swept across the stadium from Lake Michigan, dashing waves against the shore near the stadium as the first pilgrims began to gather at 3 A. M., seven hours before the ceremonies were scheduled to start. Many women were included among the early arrivals. Some carried knitting and sewing bags, prepared to pass the time until the start of the services.

Rain fell intermittently as the colorful crowd moved down the wide expanse of Michigan boulevard and across the narrow viaducts spanning the Illinois Central railroad tracks.

Two hours before the ceremony was scheduled to get under way, however, the clouds showed signs of dispersing. Rain had stopped falling, after a small precipitation, sidewalks and grounds were rapidly drying and all indications were that the day would be ideal.

Nuns in black and white robes and priests in their monastic costumes or in civilian garb, began arriving shortly after daylight.

The huge, gilded altar modelled after the one in St. Paul's, without the walls, in Rome, was outlined against the leaden gray skies. Its towering height placed it on an equality with the skyscrapers of the city in the background.

The weather was in contrast to the ideal June day which saw the opening ceremonies of the congress. All of the Sunday ceremonies, including the installation of Cardinal Bonzano, as papal legate for the congress, were held indoors, with the exception of an ecclesiastical procession of four blocks to Holy Name Cathedral for the services.

While only 2,000 could crowd into the Cathedral, another 50,000 stood in the streets under the hot midday sun for five hours, listening to the music and sermons through the loud speaking arrangements. The keynote of the congress, sounded by Cardinal Bonzano, by a message from Pope Pius XI, naming him as papal legate, and by Cardinal Mundelein is to extend the influence of the Eucharist by bringing still greater numbers within its influence.

The speakers called for a reuniting of the "separated brethren," meaning eastern Catholic churches, (Continued on page 6)

DIED IN LOG HOUSE IN WHICH HE HOMESTEADED

TO CONFISCATE FORMER GERMAN DYNASTY TREASURES

MOVE IN THAT DIRECTION FRUSTRATED IN REFERENDUM VOTE

COMPROMISE BILL MAY FOLLOW,
STATE RETAINING INTEREST IN TREASURE

By FREDERICK KUH

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Berlin, June 21.—Even though the failure of the anti-monarchist expropriation bill frustrates the confiscation of the former dynasty's treasures, estimated at half a billion dollars, it is by no means a foregone conclusion that these immense riches will be returned intact to their previous owners.

The government is still confronted by a powerful opposition which could only be disregarded at the risk of provoking serious political consequences and perhaps even violent outbreaks.

Following Sunday's referendum in which the move to confiscate the treasure was defeated, the government today announced that it would immediately rush a compromise bill through the Reichstag, whereby the state retains part of this valuable property, while the remainder is returned to the overthrown monarchs and their families.

One of the most significant features of the referendum is that 15,000,000 German citizens have reaffirmed their opposition to the old regime by voting for expropriation of the estates of their former rulers.

The final vote in the referendum yesterday stood: For expropriation, 14,889,000; against, 540,000.

Those opposing the measure had urged their group to abstain from voting. The total vote cast was all that mattered, for the measure could not have been carried unless a majority of the nation's qualified voters cast their ballots. With anything less than 19,500,000 votes defeat was automatic.

THREATENING WEATHER RETARDS VOTING AT DULUTH TODAY

Duluth, June 21.—(UP)—Threatening weather and occasional thunder showers apparently are having their effect today on the vote being cast in St. Louis county and the remainder of the iron range.

Check ups made at various polling places at noon today indicated that the range was casting an exceptionally light vote. Even in the city precincts, the vote was reported far below normal.

Election officials, however, were expecting that in the late afternoon and evening the balloting would become heavier.

DANCED CHARLESTON IN BOAT AND 6 WERE DROWNED

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., June 21.—(UP)—The bravado of a youth in dancing the Charleston in St. Mary's river late yesterday resulted in the boat capsizing and the deaths of the dancer and five companions.

The dancer was Arthur Tessier, 16, who recently won the Junior Charleston championship of Sault Ste. Marie. His five companions who met death when the craft capsized from his undaunted foot beats were:

Peggy McIntyre, 16; her sister, Annis McIntyre, 14; Smile Carey, 14; John Parsons, 13, and Clement Cornier, 13.

Isaac Jovicsur, 15 years old, seventh member of the party, alone was saved when he managed to cling to the bottom of the upturned boat.

FORGOT HE GAVE THOUSANDS TO CAMPAIGN

ALBERT M. GREENFIELD, PHILADELPHIA MILLIONAIRE, IS QUESTIONED

SEN. REED GRILLS HIM IN SENATE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE HEARING

By PAUL R. MALLON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Washington, June 21.—Albert M. Greenfield, Philadelphia millionaire, was questioned by the senate primary investigating committee today about his failure to reveal that he had given $125,000 to the Vare campaign fund when he testified previously.

Chairman Reed read to Greenfield his testimony of June 9 when the witness said his sole connection with the campaign was the solicitation of $50,000 for the Vare fund.

"Now it has since developed that you had more to do with the campaign than you indicated," said Reed. "Tell us all you had to do with it."

"I had very little else to do with it," said Greenfield. "I knew at the time that the contributions I made would later become known. I answered questions and did not volunteer any information. The newspapers have made it appear there was some discrepancy in my statement."

"Well, the record speaks for itself," returned Reed.

Greenfield said he was chairman of the Vare business men's committee and the money he raised was turned over to the treasurer of the Vare campaign. He is regarded as the "angel" of the Vare campaign.

Greenfield was subjected to a vigorous cross examination by Senator James E. Reed, democrat, Missouri. The cross examination centered about Greenfield's contributions to the Vare fund.

Greenfield said he talked with William S. Vare for a few days before the republican senatorial nominee announced his candidacy.

"I told him I thought it would be a good idea for him to challenge the electorate on the issue of modification of the Volstead act," said Greenfield. There were many conferences between them, the witness said.

"Were you ever with Vare when Major Francis X. O'Connor was present?" asked Reed. (O'Connor had been quoted as charging that the Vare forces offered him $150,000 to quit his congressional race in south Philadelphia, although he denied the story on the witness stand.)

"Why, yes, I think so," said Greenfield. "I think Vare was sitting in my office one day when O'Connor came in."

"You know that Vare tried to get O'Connor to withdraw, don't you?" asked Reed.

"Only what I read. I told O'Connor myself that I thought he was making a mistake in not supporting Vare," said Greenfield.

Greenfield said he had organized the finance committee of the business men's committee of which Frank H. Tuft was chairman.

"Did your committee keep any books?"

"No, because we turned the money over to Thomas F. Watson, treasurer of the Vare campaign committee, as fast as we got it. He had a book, but we never put any money in it."

"Did you ever collect any cash?"

"Yes, I got $15,000 from Jules E. Mastbaum, president of the Standard Company of America, a motion picture exhibiting firm."

"Why did he give you cash?"

"No reason, except that it seems to be the custom in Philadelphia to contribute to campaigns in cash."

He said Mastbaum had given one other contribution of $10,000.

Greenfield produced a list of checks which he said his stenographer had put in the files.

Reed pointed out that Greenfield's list did not show Mastbaum's $15,000 cash payment or any of Greenfield's $125,000 contribution.

Greenfield said he had made his first contribution of $15,000 to the Vare campaign fund April 20. The second payment on May 4 was $30,000 in cash. The third payment was $85,000 on May 10 in three checks of $15,000, $35,000 and $35,000.

To contribute these amounts, Greenfield said he had borrowed $30,000 on May 4 from the People's Bank & Trust Company; $35,000 on May 10 from the same bank and $35,000

Kuenning, superintendent of the government experiment station here, at Rochester, Minn., from injuries received in an automobile accident six months ago, will result in a manslaughter charge being pressed against W. T. Himmerick, the farmer, whose wagon struck Kuenning, according to State's Attorney E. A. Francis.

SAD TRAGEDY IN THE LIVES OF MILL CITY PAIR

T. B. KELLY DISAPPEARS BECAUSE OF FINANCIAL REVERSES

WIFE KILLS 6-YEAR DAUGHTER AND TRIES TO SLAY HERSELF

Minneapolis, June 21.—(UP)—

The possibility that he may have committed suicide because of financial reverses was considered by police today as they continued their search for T. B. Kelly, a musician, whose disappearance Friday caused his wife to kill their six year old daughter Kathleen and attempt suicide.

Saturday morning Mrs. Kelly poured chloroform on a bed and lay down beside the child to die. The fumes killed the daughter but did not affect the mother. So she went to a lawyer, drew up a will and then returned home and slashed her wrists. She bled for several hours and finally summoned aid. She is in a critical condition at a hospital.

Mrs. Kelly said she could not live "without my husband and could not leave my baby to face the world alone." She said she had feared that her husband had killed himself after he rushed from his duties at a musical school. They came here five years ago from Fremont, Neb., and had been married ten years.

DOCTORS BATTLE TO SAVE THE LIFE OF A SMALL BOY

HUGO SIEVER, 10, WOUNDED BY PLAYMATE ON SUNDAY

FIRE REVOLVER, THE BULLET
THE HEART

Buffalo, Minn., June 21.—(UP)—Physicians battled today to save the life of Hugo Siever, 10, son of H. H. Siever, banker who was wounded by a playmate Sunday.

The bullet struck the boy just above the heart, struck a rib and ranged upward and lodged under his shoulder. Dr. E. P. Hawkins of Montrose, who was summoned, said the wound was serious.

John McAlpin, also 10, son of Thomas McAlpin, a candidate for nomination for county treasurer at the primaries today, and Hugo were playing sailor in the Siever home. The McAlpin boy pulled the trigger of a .22 caliber revolver and the bullet struck Hugo.

The McAlpin boy, in tears, was taken to his home. Dr. Hawkins applied the stethoscope to the Siever boy and reported he could not hear the heart beating, but said the rise and fall of breath was visible.

The elder Siever is free on bail following his indictment by the Wright county grand jury on charges of grand larceny in connection with the alleged wrecking of four banks.

Reed pointed out that Greenfield's list did not show Mastbaum's $15,000 cash payment or any of Greenfield's $125,000 contribution.

Greenfield said he had made his first contribution of $15,000 to the Vare campaign fund April 20. The second payment on May 4 was $30,000 in cash. The third payment was $85,000 on May 10 in three checks of $15,000, $35,000 and $35,000.

To contribute these amounts, Greenfield said he had borrowed $30,000 on May 4 from the People's Bank & Trust Company; $35,000 on May 10 from the same bank and $35,000

Vare signed each of the three notes with him jointly.

"Have the notes been paid?"

"Yes, sir."

"Who paid them?"

"I did. Every cent of them."

Green said the notes were the ones that Vare had referred to when he said he and Greenfield had taken out a $100,000 note on the Corn Exchange bank.

REPUBLICAN AND FARMER- LABOR PRIMARIES

TWO FACTORS, HOWEVER, APPPEAR TO HAVE DISCOURAGED HEAVY VOTE

FEELING OF CONFIDENCE ON THE PART OF SOME, AND WEATHER CONDITIONS RULING

By WILLIAM E. HALLBERG

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

St. Paul, June 21.—Partly cloudy weather with a threat of rain greeted Minnesota voters as they balloted today on state and congressional candidates in the republican and farmer-labor primaries.

Two factors discouraged a heavy vote, a feeling of confidence on the part of supporters of some candidates and the fact that farmers could make good use of their time in overcoming the effects of a backward spring.

Four candidates were in the race for governor on the two tickets. Governor Christianson, a newspaper editor, and George E. Leach, mayor of Minneapolis, were the republican foes. Former United States Senator Magnus Johnson, a farmer, and Tom Davis, of Minneapolis, an attorney, were the farmer-labor candidates.

State interest centered in the republican contest. Victory for Christianson would mean a step toward continuance of his plan for the reorganization and consolidation of state departments as an economy measure.

This issue was sharply drawn. Leach has attacked the finance commission feature of the plan. He declares that it gives too much power to men appointed by the governor.

The controversy overshadowed the Davis-Johnson fight, although there was an element of drama in the latter, in that Johnson was attempting a political comeback less than a week after the senate had rejected his contest of the election of Senator Thomas D. Schall.

But no issue was involved in the Johnson Davis contest. Their platforms differ little, being almost identical with the farmer-labor program in the state. Too, they long have been close personal friends.

With Alfred Jacques, of Duluth, an attorney, unopposed for governor, democrats have but one contest, a congressional fight in the fourth district, which includes St. Paul.

The polls opened at 6 A. M. and were to close at 9 P. M.

Portland, Maine, June 21.—Fair weather indicated a large vote today in the state primaries, principal interest in which concerns Governor Ralph O. Brewster's fight for a second term.

AIR SERVICE PROGRAM PLANNED FOR NORTHWEST

St. Paul, June 21.—(UP)—The northwest is forging rapidly ahead in its air service program and will soon have a large air craft manufacturing plant, according to W. A. Kidder, manager of the Dickinson air lines.

Kidder revealed the plans at the establishment of the taxiplane service Sunday, when Charles Dickinson flew to St. Paul from Chicago in the first plane to be used in the service. Two 500-gallon tanks capable of fueling four planes at once were completed at the airport yesterday as part of the program.

their daughter, Florence, one of the most popular young ladies in the city became the bride of Alton Fox, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fox, also of Brainerd.

The bridal party came in to the strains of the wedding march which was played by Miss Eleanor Frayer and the ceremony was performed by Rev. A. G. Patterson of the First Presbyterian church.

The bride had as her only attendant, her sister, Miss Violet, and the groom had Ronald McDonald, of International Falls, as his best man.

The bridesmaid was attired in peach colored georgette and carried pink roses. The bride was gowned in Alice blue georgette and carried a shower bouquet.

After the ceremony a four course wedding dinner was served to 22 guests.

The bride who was the honor guest at many pre-nuptial entertainments was employed in the offices of the N. P. Shops. The groom is employed in International Falls and the couple, after a short honeymoon at the nearby lakes, will be at home to their many friends after July 5 at International Falls.

Lundgren-Harting
The marriage of Miss Elvira Harting, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Otto Harting, of 1009 Fir street, and John N. Lundgren son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lundgren of Ironton took place Sunday noon at the Bethlehem Evangelical parsonage, Rev. J. H. Bollens reading the service at 1 o'clock.

The attendants were Miss E. Lundgren, a sister of the groom and Arvid Anderson.

The bride wore a gown of powder blue Deja crepe with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and baby breath. The bridesmaid was gowned in orchid Deja crepe with hat to match and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and baby breath.

Following the ceremony a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents at which 30 guests were present.

The couple are both very popular residents of this city the bride having been employed at the Burg store and the groom is a talented musician of Hedstrom's orchestra.

Mr. and Mrs. Lundgren are motoring to Crystal Falls, Mich., after which they will make their home in this city.

Fish-Johnson
A very pretty June wedding took place Saturday, June 19, at Pequot when Miss Lillian M. Johnson became the bride of Lloyd W. Fish of Brainerd, Rev. H. F. Damon of Brainerd officiating.

The only attendants were Miss Ruth Johnson, the bridesmaid and Orlando Johnson, the best man.

Both the bride and bridesmaid were attired in white and the bride carried a bouquet of roses.

The couple will make their home in Brainerd where the groom is employed at the local shops.

Ice Cream Social
An ice cream social will be given by the Junior Young Peoples society of the Bethlehem Lutheran church, on Friday, July 2, in the church parlors.

AT NATIONAL PEONY SHOW

L. P. Hall, President of Local County Garden Flower Society, Writes Impressions

SHOW AT FORT WAYNE 15,000 Square Feet Filled With Exhibits of Flowers in 33 Classes

L. P. Hall, president of the Crow Wing County Garden Flower society who attended the National Peony Show at Fort Wayne, Ind., June 15 and 16, writes the following on the impressions he received:

"Fort Wayne, a city the size of Duluth, is the center of a rich agricultural country and is ideally located to have large numbers of blooms available. Peony growing has been carried on extensively through this section for many years. Also the adjacent state of Ohio has many commercial and amateur growers of the peony. So it was possible to have almost unlimited quantities of peony blooms to select from for the show. Michigan and Illinois sent many blooms.

"The grand display was in the gymnasium of a local college. There were 15,000 square feet of space available but all exhibits were crowded because of the large numbers of flowers entered in the 33 classes.

"Perhaps the greatest interest of the show centered in winning the honors in class one. This represented winning the Gold Medal of The American Peony society, a cash prize of fifty dollars and the coveted place in the public eye. Class one called for a collection of one hundred named varieties, one peony to each vase. The American Rose and Plant Company of Springfield, Ohio, carried first honors and Mr. Lee R. Bonnewitz of Van Wert, Ohio, was a close second. Insofar as it was possible for a novice to judge these flowers, the peonies in both of these exhibits bordered closely on perfection. Among the specimens of greatest merit were Adolphe Rousseau, Lora Dexeimier, Richard Carvel, Mary Brand, Grover Cleveland, Philippe Rivoire, Armandine Machine, in reds; Eugenie Verdier, Rosa Bonheur, M. Jules Elie, Lamartine, in dark pinks; Claire DuBoise, Elwood Pleas, Strassburg, Therese, Tourangelle, Reine Hortense, Exquisite, La Fee, and Opal, in light pink; Jubilee, Kelway's Glorious, Mrs. Edward Harding, La Lorraine, Frances Willard, La Tendresse, and Bayadere, in whites.

"There were several Holland varieties of great beauty in the first prize exhibit. These varieties are not very well known in this country; some that were especially attractive were Gretchen, Queen Whilamena, Constant Devred, Marquis C. Lagergren, L. Van Leenwen, Marguerite Gaudichan and Mme de Galhan.

"The varieties which won prizes in other special classes were Walter Faxon, Colange, Jubilee, Sarah Bernhardt, Milton Hill, Elwood Pleas, Philippe Rivoire, Grover Cleveland, Son. Louis Bigot, and La Cygne. The La Cygne won first prize in four different classes and it also won the Brand Silver Cup for being the most perfect flower at the show.

"The varieties of peonies originated by Lemoine in France were our standing flowers in all of the exhibits and were the prize winners in a majority of the classes. Crousse and Dessert varieties which are French also, were conspicuous, too. There were three outstanding varieties of English origin on display, Baroness Schroeder, Kelway's Glorious, and Lady Alexander Duff. In American productions, Milton Hill, Walter Faxon by Richardson; Jubilee and Elwood Pleas by Mrs. Pleas; Martha Bullock, Richard Carvel, Lora Dexeimier, Frances Willard, Elizabeth Barrett Browning, Christine Gowdy, all produced by our own Minnesota A. M. Brand.

"There was an unusual exhibit of single peonies, also those of Japanese origin. These were very attractive and were greatly admired by the crowds of visitors at the show.

"In vases of flower arrangement for effect, the single peonies won all firsts and the honors were carried by Mr. Du Mont of Des Moines, Ia. Mr. Du Mont won four of these prizes. Mrs. Germain of Van Wert, Ohio, had a very pleasing arrangement of long stemmed red peonies with sprays of oak leaf foliage.

"A banquet was given on Tuesday evening for the visiting members of the American Peony society. C. W. Bunn, St. Paul peony expert was the principal speaker. Mr. Bunn explained the society's work in eliminating the chaos which had existed in reference to the names of peonies and in encouraging the creation of new and more beautiful varieties. The peony was characterized as "The Queen of the North" by the speaker who described the flowers affinity for cool weather and expressed the opinion that it could be cultivated as far north as the Arctic Circle.

"Much interest was taken in the spirited bidding of a number of cities for the 1927 show. Peoria, Ill., presented the strongest invitation for the 1927 show and Duluth, Minn., is laying plans to stage the show in 1928."

L. P. HALL,
President Crow Wing County
Garden Flower Society.

INTERESTING CLASS HISTORY Read at Christian Endeavor Rally Held at Swedish Bethany Church

A very interesting history of the class recently confirmed at the Swedish Bethany church was read at the Christian Endeavor rally held last Wednesday. The class consisting of six girls and two boys began studying last September with Rev. P. G. Fallquist as instructor and met once each week since that time. The two boys never missed a meeting, and one of the girls missed but one each. One of the beginners dropped out before completing the course.

Sunday, June 6th was confirmation day, when Rev. Fallquist gave the class an oral examination consisting of 175 questions, both from the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, which were answered without a failure. The members graduating and receiving Bibles and diplomas were: Hazel Fallquist, Virginia Erickson, Evelyn Swanson, Edith Peterson, Astrid Lindberg, Wallace Anderson and Leslie Swanson.

Other numbers on the C. E. program were a solo by Miss Ellen Erickson; reading by Miss Mae Anderson; two songs by the Junior quartet composed of Ruth and Ruby Fallquist, Eugene Swanson and Byrll Erickson, one of which was written in honor of the president of the society, Miss Florence Swanson; and the annual report of the society by Ralph Lindberg, secretary, which showed a steady growth, both in interest and attendance.

Ice cream, coffee and cake were served at the close of the meeting.

MAY NOW NOT ADJOURN CONGRESS ON JUNE 30

Washington, June 21.—(UP)—Opponents of the administration plan to adjourn congress on June 30 won a victory in the house today when a motion by Representative Madden, republican, Illinois, to send the Snell adjournment resolution to the ways and means committee was adopted 190 to 134.

Possibility of congress remaining in session until the rivers and harbors bill is acted on by the senate was seen as a result.

GOVERNMENT'S BILL REORGANIZING COAL MINING IN ENGLAND

London, June 21.—(UP)—The government's bill to reorganize the coal industry and increase hours of labor in the mines from 7 to 8 hours was introduced in the house of commons today. The bill is designed to make effective recommendations of the royal coal commission which was formed last autumn to suggest a remedy for the situation which resulted in coal stoppage.

W. H. Triplett

Little Visits Around the Rural Section

Written especially for the Dispatch by W. H. Triplett and E. W. Smith, travelling editors for this paper and the Farmer of St. Paul.

E. W. Smith

Route No. 5

Saturday was a short day for visits, as we have to drive to St. Paul before evening, therefore only two important farmers were met. Driving on to the R. R. Wise farm we met C. C. Skillings the overseer. There are 2700 acres in this farm. About 1200 are improved very largely into hay. The timber section is fenced into pasture. Forty head of pure bred Herefords are on the farm. Percheron horses are raised. This season four spring colts are following their dam. Mr. Skillings informed us his children are sick with scarlet fever. The Dispatch is hoping for an early recovery.

The next place was E. L. Dorsett, who says he never even milked a cow until 10 years ago, always living in town, working as a railroad man, but thinking there was something in farming, provided it was followed properly. He bought a farm and moved on 10 years ago. Today he has 70 acres in crops, but the thing that took my attention was his poultry. He wintered 350 White Leghorns, and many days was receiving 265 eggs. Now he has sold down to 200 hens but the eggs seem to be coming right along. His flock has averaged 45 per cent production during the entire year. He was speaking about his chicks having weak legs when first hatched. At first he did not know what to do for them, but thinking perhaps it was the lack of bone building material, he bought green bones, and ground them for his flock, and the trouble was corrected. He says perhaps this will help some other poultryman who is having the same trouble.

This finishes Brainerd Route No. 5, besides a few little side trips. And as announced in last Monday's paper, we were here only for a short time, but Mr. Triplett will continue the "Little Visits."

And to make them more interesting I suggest that those now taking The Dispatch can help materially, by passing the word along to others who are not subscribers. What we are looking for is news, not gossip, but news that will have an inspiring effect on those who read it. For instance, in yesterday's paper, you read that Christ Olson near Hubert, had 65 hens that laid an average of 45 eggs per day for over a hundred days. That is good constructive news, and again you read that Robert Jordan was getting a field of new breaking ready, and that he always broke up some new land every year. Again some real constructive news. Therefore let Mr. Triplett have all the facts you can. He will never report a single thing detrimental to you or Crow Wing county.

Especially would I ask co-operation from those boys that saw service in France. To those and others I want to inform you that Mr. Triplett carries the scars of service overseas. He knows what it is to have those devil chasers cutting the grass in front and behind him, and has faced the machine gun nest more than once. Just try to get acquainted with him, and he will bring you some good inspiration from day to day.

I am to go to other fields, but before I depart I wish to extend to every one I have met my regards for the genial welcome you have given me.

And now I bid you goodbye for a time.

Yours truly,
E. W. SMITH.

MRS. E. O. ANDERSON PASSES AWAY

Mrs. E. O. Anderson Passes Away... Death Resulted From Complications From Which She Had Suffered a Long Time

LEAVES HUSBAND, 4 CHILDREN

Other Relatives are 8 Grandchildren, Niece, Nephew and a Cousin

Anna Brita, wife of E. O. Anderson passed away Sunday morning at 3 o'clock at the family residence 1202 East Oak street, death resulting from complications. Mrs. Anderson had been in ill health for some time and all her children were present at her bedside.

She was born in Sweden on May 31, 1861, coming to this country in 1893, settling in Duluth until 1898 when the family came to Brainerd, living here for the next 28 years.

Surviving her are her husband Eric O. Anderson and the following four children, Mrs. Ray H. Paine, Axel A. Anderson, and Clark P. Anderson all of Brainerd and George E. Anderson of Minneapolis. A brother S. E. Olson resides in Minneapolis and a sister and three brothers live in Sweden.

Other relatives in the city besides eight grandchildren are Mrs. O. B. Johnson, a niece, Werner Backman a nephew, and Mrs. Edward Anderson a cousin.

The funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the residence and at 2 o'clock from the Clara Lutheran church, Rev. August Samuelson officiating. Interment will be made in Evergreen cemetery.

Mrs. Anderson was a loving, tender wife and mother devoted to her family and the community where she lived, unselfishly giving her efforts to everyone making hosts of friends wherever she went. During her illness she never complained of the suffering she underwent and kept up her smiling spirit to the end.

DEFECTIVE TIRE MAY HAVE CAUSED MOTORCYCLIST'S DEATH

St. Paul, June 21.—(UP)—A defective tire was believed today to have been responsible for the death of Motorcycle Policeman Calbert H. Leedom, whose motorcycle skidded Sunday and crashed into a viaduct.

Miss Val Tomte, 17, and Robert Hardy, both of Minneapolis, were killed in other traffic accidents. Miss Tomte was killed in a collision and Hardy was struck by an automobile.

Half a dozen other passengers were injured.

NOTICE CITY WATER USERS

On account of water conditions many people are compelled to use city water for washing and are inconvenienced because of its hardness. To overcome this add one teaspoonful of Rub-No-More Washing Powder (the Original 5c Water Softener) to each gallon of city water. IT SAVES SOAP.

Besides its 15 household usages it is the only cleanser that will clean sinks and tubs and dissolve upon rinsing. No sand left to clog drain pipes.

WE CAN LEARN FROM FLORIDA

THE Duluth Herald recently published a pertinent editorial in which it reminded us of what Florida may teach us.

In a communication in the Open Court of the Herald the other evening, W. W. Upham, in saying the true and important thing that it is wiser to boost the home place than to knock its rivals, called attention to one point where Minnesota is lame and needs to mend its ways.

He said, "The state of Minnesota is getting to be one of the major states in the tourist business. Why not help the tourist? Give him a booster spirit. The first thing he comes in contact with is a difficulty with the state license department. If he stays over sixty days he has to buy a year's license for his car; a bother and expense he notices.

"Florida, the largest auto-tourist state, has the reciprocal license law. And, if the foreign car is from a state like Minnesota that does not reciprocate, they issue licenses for periods of three months or multiples thereof. Just a help to the tourist that saves him trouble and money, and he appreciates it."

The point is exceedingly well taken. The whole matter has often been discussed in our Brainerd Chamber of Commerce, but no solution was found. Florida clearly has a much more sensible arrangement than Minnesota.

Florida has that sensible arrangement because it welcomes tourists. Minnesota welcomes tourists, too, but it has not yet come to that arrangement. If a Minnesota tourist happened to say sixty-one days in another state and was forced to pay for a year's license, he wouldn't like it, and he wouldn't think much of the hospitality of that state.

Minnesota ought to have the reciprocal license law, and, like Florida, it should issue three months' licenses to cars from non-reciprocating states.

THAT LAKE LILLIAN COUNTRY

LAKE LILLIAN is a small town on the Luce line, not so very old, but active when it comes to acquiring publicity. You remember some years ago when the papers were filled with stories about a devil who had appeared at a lake shore dance, had broken the orchestra leader's fiddle and had effectually "broke up" the dance. All kinds of mention was secured, editorial, criticisms, pulpit comment, etc. Well, the devil was eventually blotted from Lake Lillian and the town was quiescent for a time.

Then came the oil excitement. A restaurant man sunk a well and found what appeared to be good gasoline. In fact, of the four holes he made in his basement, it is reported one gave brackish water, the other a substance like kerosene and gasoline, and two others more poor water. A Brainerd man visited the "oil well" and brought back a bottle of the fluid which has been on display in THE BRAINERD DISPATCH window for some time.

And now comes the report that oil drilling operations are to start on the Knute Brown property. Lake Lillian has tried, oh so hard, to keep in the public eye, and we hope the town continues to absorb front page space.

FRENCH CABINETS

THE French mind is so constituted that all is well when a cabinet rules. Whenever the cabinet is splintered and makes an exit, the Frenchman becomes excited. Regardless of whether the cabinet solves the financial question or not, the Frenchman is happy as long as the cabinet holds out.

We wish the French mind were able to grasp the situation. Mere cabinet building and new premiers and hair splitting discussions of various phases of politics will not pay debts. The franc will continue to toboggan and fluctuate as long as the people add new cabinets and oust old ones and talk and talk and not make provisions to pay their debts.

With a flourish of trumpets it was announced that the French war debt owing the United States had been funded and that a long time agreement had been perfected. With the crash of the Briand cabinet, that arrangement made or being perfected, is in danger.

Cabinet making seems to be a good job in French political circles, but the furniture isn't of the lasting kind and styles change too quickly.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A GOOD AND SAFE DRIVER

THOMAS P. HENRY, president of the A. A. A. has defined a good and safe driver, setting forth these six essentials:

- 1—The good driver has a high degree of self control at all times, this control manifesting itself in various ways.
- 2—The good driver always maintains his car in such shape that it responds easily and quickly, thus assuring control of the car as far as the purely mechanical equation is concerned.
- 3—The good driver regulates his speed in accord with the conditions of the road over which he is traveling, and never travels at such a rate that he cannot stop it within the clear space ahead.
- 4—The good driver invariably exercises due regard for the rights of others and always applies the simple axioms of courteous behavior.
- 5—The good driver accepts the safety of the pedestrian as a primary consideration.
- 6—The good driver keeps his mind on the road ahead, as day dreaming or chattering at the wheel causes many more accidents than are caused by bee stings.

HILTON WINS

THOSE who have followed the gallant fight which Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton has made in behalf of the State of Minnesota in his effort to establish the legality of the new royalty tax on iron ore are glad to hear that the Supreme Court of the United States has approved the law.

This decision means that Minnesota will receive about a million dollars of added revenue from the iron mines.

The occupational tax law on the business of iron mining which he drew and defended will have brought into the state treasury by the first of July $16,500,000.—Anoka Herald.

KEEPING everlastingly at it brings success—and nervous prostration.—Dassel Dispatch.

BRAINERD

25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

June 19, 1901

The bicycle path on North Ninth street is nearing completion. It will be one of the best paths in the city.

Street Commissioner Weitzel has a crew of men taking up the ties of the old street car lines on Sixth street. It is thought this will improve the condition of the street.

A. E. Hammond, a prominent real estate dealer of Minneapolis, was in the city yesterday conferring with P. J. Murphy local representative. The gentlemen drove out in the country and succeeded in placing about $10,000 in loans among the farmers of Crow Wing county.

J. R. Smith has been pretty busy the past few days and there was brisk buying of city real estate included on his list. Mr. Smith sold two of his own lots with one house in block 220 to J. W. Bush the consideration being $650. He also sold three vacant lots owned by Mrs. S. L. Sleeper in block 218 to L. F. Nelson consideration $275 and one lot owned by G. D. LaBar in block 18, Schwartz's addition to the city of Brainerd to John Leslie consideration $75.

The committee consisting of Messrs. Gardner, Halladay, Rowley and Fogelstrom to which was referred the matter of locating a city pound went out yesterday afternoon and looked over several locations. The gentlemen finally decided to locate the pound under the East Brainerd bridge and Street Commissioner Weitzel is busy today building a fence around a one acre patch. He is putting up a five foot woven wire fence and at the top of this barb wire will be strung so that if mayhap some nimble cur is incarcerated he can not scale the wall and make his escape.

Lower Mississippi saw mill men are in hard luck this year as the low stage of water in Wisconsin streams have made the delivery of logs very slow. The mill owners have had to seek a supply on the upper Mississippi and they are making very flattering offers says the Little Falls Transcript.

George T. Lindsay of Davenport, Ia., was in the city and closed a deal with the Pine Tree company for the purchase of the 12,000,000 feet of logs cut on Shell River last winter by the camps in charge of H. A. Connor. * * * A sale of Pine Tree logs was recently made to the W. S. Hill lumber company in Minneapolis and about 8,000,000 feet of these logs are being passed through the booms here.

One of the largest real estate transfers chronicled for some time has just been made and the deal means much to Crow Wing and Cass counties. The transfer includes something like 12,000 acres of land situated in these two counties and takes in a large portion of the cut over lands.

The land was owned by Nelson Frey and company, Minneapolis and from these acres millions of feet of pine have been cut in the past years, the land is situated in the northern part of Crow Wing and southern part of Cass counties. W. D. Washburn Jr. of Minneapolis is the gentleman who purchased the tracts.

Two Big Cities That

Have Much in Common

According to a bulletin of the National Geographic society, New York and Amsterdam have much in common. Each is the largest and most populous city in its respective country. Neither is the political capital of the country, but each is the undisputed commercial dictator and the keypoint of military defense. Each is a seaport, although here the analogy does not follow as closely. Rotterdam's commerce exceeds that of Amsterdam. Amsterdam, however, has the headquarters of all the large shipping companies, just as has New York. Amsterdam is also an important industrial center, with shipbuilding plants, refineries, machine shops, many small factories, diamond polishing mills, etc.

The city of Amsterdam lies in the southwest corner of the great inland body of water known as the Zuider zee, at the influx of the Amstel and Y rivers. Like Venice it is built on a number of islands, but with much more regularity than the queen of the Adriatic. Roughly, the city plan looks like the profile of a half-wheel, with numerous water spokes and inner rims in regular succession. These rims or successive encircling canals indicate zones of expansion in the past, and, flanked with avenues of elm and tall narrow brick houses with the gables turned toward the street, give a handsome and picturesque effect to the residential section.

Amsterdam might be said to be the first setting of nearly every diamond. Its diamond polishing and cutting mills have been famous since the sixteenth century, when the art was introduced by Portuguese Jews after the sack of Antwerp. At the present time there are nearly 100 mills, employing several thousand persons. Most of the raw diamonds come from South Africa, although Brazil and the Far-East are other sources of supply.

Coal First Employed for Melting Metals

Coal probably was burned for the production of superheat used in the fabrication of metals during the Iron age, as early as B. C. 1000, but the first authentic use of this fuel is traced to Greece, where it was burned in B. C. 300. These facts relating to the common coal of today are presented by Malcolm MacFarlane, general fuel inspector of the New York Central, in an article in the railroad's magazine.

"It seems reasonable," the writer says, "to believe that coal came into limited use with the discovery of metals because of the more intense heat required to work these. On this assumption coal may have been used in the Iron age as early as B. C. 1000. Reports indicate that coal was mined quite extensively in England during the Roman invasion, but the earliest reliable record of its use there is in A. D. 852."

After tramping unconsciously over the enormous beds of coal in the Alleghenies pioneers of America discovered the first bed of coal on the Illinois river at Ottawa in 1679. But nearly another century passed, says Mr. MacFarlane, before actual mining began, and then it was in Virginia, at a point 12 miles above Richmond, on the James river. This was in 1750. During the next 25 years it came into general use in that region and made possible the manufacture of cannon for Washington's army.—Detroit News.

Good Effect Gained by Proper Pictures

Pictures serve an admirable purpose in the decoration and furnishing of the small home.

By the very nature of their location on the wall they occupy none of the floor space that is so valuable in the small dwelling. If the little room has been rather crowded with furniture, pictures on the wall carry the eye upward and bring the attention from the lower part of the room to the upper, where there is a greater appearance of space.

Then, too, the subjects of the pictures may be chosen with a view to increasing the apparent size of the room. Pictures with a rather deep perspective give the eye a feeling of looking into the scene, down a corridor, into a valley, along a river, or otherwise creating an appearance of distance.

To do this removes much of the cramped feeling that invades a small room overcrowded with furniture.

The choice of color in pictures also will have much to do with the decorative scheme of the room, and the same effect of spaciousness can be created with the judicious use of mirrors.

His Promise

A southwestern banker tells of a man in his state who was continually hard up and had so many notes at the bank that he could not leave town except on Sundays and holidays. There was one note of his falling due every banking day. He dropped into the bank one day and spoke genially to the president. "I came in to fix up that little matter of mine," he said. "I'd like to renew it for a while."

The president had the note on his desk. He picked it up and studied it carefully. "Henry," he finally said, "I don't think this note is made out properly."

"Why not?" asked the borrower. "It reads: 'I promise to pay,' not 'I promise to renew.'"

Moslems' Holy Stone

The black stone of Mecca is a dark-colored stone about nine inches long, apparently a meteorite, built into the southeast corner of the temple of the Caaba at Mecca. The Mohammedans claim that it was given to Abraham by an angel. Pilgrims to Mecca walk around the temple seven times, then kiss the black stone. The Caaba was the temple of Mecca for ages before the time of Mohammed, and attracted pagan pilgrims in those days just as now it draws thousands of Moslems. It is a legend that the black stone was at one time white, but turned black owing to the sins of men.—Exchange.

Necessity for Sleep

We are told that too much sleep may be harmful, deadening the activities of the mind and body. A physician who has been studying the mystery of sleep, has gone so far as to advance the theory that it may be possible to develop a sleepless race. He declares that eventually we may eliminate sleep by scaling it down gradually and getting accustomed to going without it. A way to do this, he suggests, is to reduce our sleep five minutes every two months. At the end of sixteen years, provided we start at eight hours a night, "the stupor of sleep would be banished if it could be."

Named Through Error

The Amazon, largest of the world's rivers, was discovered by Vicente Yanez Pinzon in 1500, and was explored by Orellana, one of Pizarro's officers, in 1541. Observing, as he supposed, armed women on the banks as he sailed down the river from Peru to the ocean, he fancied them to be "Amazons," and thus the river obtained its name. These people were simply the native Indians. They parted their long hair in the middle and wore long tunics. To the imagination of the Spaniards they seemed to be the fabled women warriors of antiquity.—Exchange.

Catalogue Tells of Many Plant Diseases

The song writer who pictured the rose in a care-free life under cloudless skies and its freedom from work while it kisses the passing breeze evidently was unfamiliar with the existence of plant diseases. There is many a "worry" in the "life of a rose" from the time the tiny seed germinates in the warm, moist earth until the opening of the bud under the sunny sky, according to the pathologists of the United States Department of Agriculture. Thirty-nine different "worries" of the rose have been listed by these pathologists in a catalogue of the diseases which affect economic and ornamental plants in the United States.

To one unfamiliar with the extent of disease among plants the 100-page catalogue in which the specific troubles of every important plant are listed would seem to indicate that no plant's life is a bed of roses—they all have their troubles and many of them. The wheat crop is afflicted with 31 different diseases, the corn plant with 27, the tomato with 42. The oak tree fights its way against 52 diseases, and we have apples in spite of 66 possible maladies.

Story of Lotteries

The lotteries were first heard of in England in Elizabeth's reign (1559), and were deemed legal until an act of William III declared them "public nuisance." But this act failed to abolish them.

Lets Welcome Summer with a new outfit-fine car-new tires-bright household-and plans for a Fourth of July Tour

Summer is here—officially. This—the 21st—is her birthday. Let's celebrate—for she's the gayest and kindest of seasons.

Let's spruce up, doll up, paint up, clean up—let's abandon the old togs, the old ways and the old conservation—let's step out and buy!

New clothes put new color in life's picture, new pep in the step. A new rug—new porch furniture—animates the cheer of the home. New tires, a new battery and clean cylinders revitalize the good old car. A new trunk—a new suitcase—brings vacation days closer.

Let's link arms and step out!

Retail values were never greater—or fairer. Never has there been so much offered for the money—in style, in variety and in utility. That applies on all desirable and usable things—all commodities—all articles, whether for adornment of person or home.

As a newspaper with the interests of all at heart, we believe it our duty to point out these things. People far more interested in their own thoughts, their own pleasures, their own cares frequently overlook the trend of values. Values are like the tide—they advance and recede. The time to buy is when the dollar buys most . . . and that time is NOW!

Buying now means saving money. There is no other practical viewpoint.

So, like all prudent, thrifty citizens, let's buy NOW!

Three Glorious Days are Coming!

Holiday days! July 3-4-5. Spend them touring . . . behind the steering wheel . . . unwinding mile after mile of beautiful scenery . . . with a pause at quaint, cool inns for fresh country-cooked foods. Get the car in shape—and pick out the long, long trail. If tires or accessories are needed, buy them now.

and they urged extension of missionary work.

Soldiers' Field, Chicago, June 21.—A chorus of 62,000 children lifted their voices in praise and thanksgiving to Christ, their Eucharistic King, here today in the greatest religious gathering ever held on American soil.

In a setting that excelled in splendor and ceremony the pageantry of ancient Rome, the liturgy of the centuries was united with the voices of Chicago's parochial school children in this most elaborate spectacle of the Eucharistic Congress.

In a stadium, located a short distance from the shores of Lake Michigan and within half a mile of the world's business corner, 145,000 persons gathered from the nations of the world, a reverent, devout and orderly congregation to pay honor to the chief belief of their religion, their belief that Jesus Christ is actually and really present on the altar under the appearance of bread and wine.

On either side of the field, tiers of seats were filled with countless thousands, reaching up to the Grecian columns from which flew the Stars and Stripes and the gold and silver colors of the papacy.

At the north end of the stadium, an altar, topped by the cross, towered to the dull, gray clouds. Four huge bronze statues of angels faced the four directions bearing the banner of "Salve"—welcome.

Under a canopy on the right side of the altar, sat John Cardinal Bonzano, the personal representative of the Roman pope, facing 11 fellow members of the sacred college, all wearing their robes of red, the color signifying wisdom.

The cardinal dais was at the top of 200 steps, green, the color of hope, with a red carpet leading to the center of the altar.

At the bottom of the steps were gathered the purple-robed archbishops, bishops and monsignori.

To the right side of the altar the priests wearing cassocks of black and white surplices and to the left were grouped the nuns.

In the field of the stadium on wooden benches were seated the children, a picture of solid white.

The complete orderliness with which the crowds were handled was marked. Police were stationed shoulder to shoulder, at the various entrances, marking aisles for entrance of the officials. Some delay was caused in the start by the right aisle front entrance to the stadium filling up, holding up the arrival of the clergy. As the cardinals entered the notes of the organ burst upon the throng, falling with doubled and redoubled intensity as its huge billows of sound swept the crowd, amplified thousands of times by the loud speakers.

One hundred thousand people were gathered on the streets and lanes leading to the field. Another 100,000 were banded in the open place between the field museum and the stadium entrance. Police had difficulty in keeping the crowds from climbing a hundred foot radio tower and many of the hardy scaled the heights of the tower for an advantageous position from which to see the spectacle.

The only open space within a territory of three square miles was the narrow three foot lane through which the prelates passed. Cheers greeted the various prelates as they were recognized by the crowd. Sebastian G. Messmer, of Milwaukee, dean of the archbishops, drew a great cheer from the crowd as did Bishop Thomas Lillis of Kansas City.

As Cardinal Bonzano mounted the altar steps, six Tibetan trumpets in the chorus directors' platform heralded his approach.

Airplanes whirled overhead as Cardinal Bonzano started the mass. Professor Singenberger, dressed in white, raised his baton and swelling from the throats of 62,000 children in volume that reached far out on the blue waters of Lake Michigan and the busy life of Chicago came the Kyrie Eleison, "Lord Have Mercy on Us," the opening strains of the mass.

A few drops of rain sprinkled the crowds as the choir intoned the Gloria, and umbrellas appeared throughout the stands.

The last blessing of the mass was given by Cardinal Bonzano at 1:30 as the thousands knelt. The procession from the field then began with solemn dignity.

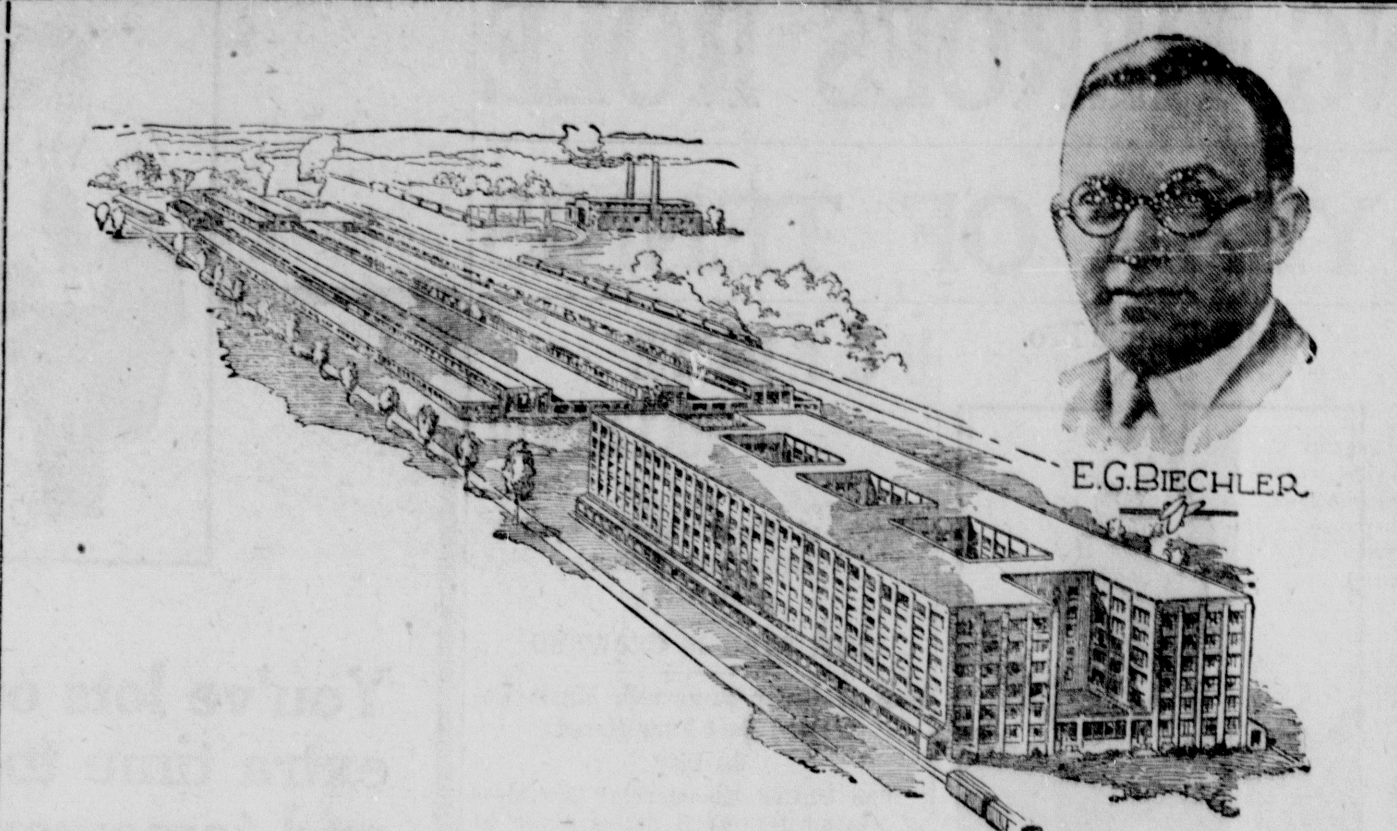

FIRST COMING OF THE EUCHARIST TO CHICAGO

By REV. J. S. DANNISSY, S. J.,
(Dean of Marquette University College of Journalism)

(Written for the United Press)
Soldiers' Field, Chicago, June 21.—Two and one-half centuries ago, Father Marquette landed where the city of Chicago now stands. This was the first coming of the Eucharist to Chicago.

It came again today, but what a difference, what a contrast between the first and last gathering in honor of Christ on the altar.

In that first celebration of the mass on the shores of this inland sea, there was but one official representation of the Catholic church—a slight

It will cost General Motors $20,000,000 to build and equip the above plant, which is one mile long. It is to be constructed near Dayton, Ohio, for the manufacture of electric refrigerators. This is the initial outlay in a $100,000,000 Frigidaire expansion program, which General Motors will put through, if neces-toil-worn figure in a shabby cassock, that had once been black, but was now green with age and patched, a young man still, but with the marks of long days of travel through the trackless forests, of voyages over the lakes, down the rivers of Wisconsin, battles with flood and droughts, long portages and dreary search for souls. Day after day he looked forward to the next meeting with an Indian tribe, not knowing whether he would find honor or death, the peace pipe or the stake at the end of the day's journey.

In that twilight gray of early dawn into the open air, under the canopy of an oak tree he donned the vestments of his office and said first mass and consecrated the first hosts. About him clustered his courier and a little group of friendly Indian braves, squaws and papooses. Stranger, more romantic as it seems to us, it was but an ordinary occurrence in the missionary life of the 19th century of the Catholic church. Day after day in Alaska, in the Congo, in the heart of China and in the midst of the ruins of the old civilization of India this scene is repeated with variations of setting and race.

But this was the difference. Father Marquette was a man of vision. He foresaw and foretold the great future of the virgin land he explored. The discoverer of the Mississippi saw in imagination the great future of America. But the greatest of his prophetic foresight could not have foreseen this day. Today as our eyes view the vast expanse of Soldiers' Field, we see 150,000 gathered in a vast compact mass. Thousands of others sought admission. Sixty thousand white clad pupils from the parish schools of Chicago burst forth in the Eucharistic song. Present were the personal legate, representing Pope Pius XI with 11 other cardinals from all the world with official representatives of the great nations of the world, archbishops, bishops and monsignors in gleaming purple with representations of hundreds of religious orders of men and women. They were here for the most gorge-sary, to supply the market. The plant has a capacity of four electric refrigerators a minute and will be in production early in 1927. E. G. Biechler, president and general manager of the Delco-Light Company, makers of Frigidaire, will direct the building program.

"The tremendous growth of Frigidaire is due in a measure to the use of newspaper advertising," said Mr. Biechler. "We have been large users of space in 1,850 daily papers since last October, (of which the Daily Dispatch is one) and in that time have enjoyed our period of greatest growth."

had been cancelled by the railroad companies which issued them. Judge E. A. Montgomery sentenced him to one to 10 years in prison but granted him a 60 day stay and accepted a $3,500 bond pending an appeal for a new trial.

A dainty setting of a newly married couple spending their honeymoon at one of the lakes in the 10,000 lakes area with Brainerd as the gateway modelled in miniature form in the display windows of Paul M. Jones' Soda Grill on the corner of Sixth and Laurel streets is causing considerable favorable comment from citizens and tourists today.

The setting which is quite artistic was created by Miss Mayme Britton, young lady employee at Jones' Soda Grill. Besides advertising the store, it also represents the attractiveness of the lakes in the district as a playground for tourists.

LARGE VOTE AT CROOKSTON

Crookston, Minn., June 21.—(UP)—Clear skies were expected to bring out a heavy vote in cities and towns of the Red River valley today.

However, all highways are soft and in poor condition owing to the recent heavy rains and it was feared this would cause the voting in the rural districts to be quiet.

Interest in county and congressional districts contests overshadowed the gubernatorial fight. The voting was quiet and steady.

ALLEGES THAT RYE SCREENINGS WERE DUMPED IN ELEVATOR

Chicago, June 21.—(UP)—A special committee of the board of trade is investigating complaints that the Armour Grain company dumped rye screenings into its Northwestern elevator here, John A. Bunnell, president of the board, announced here today.

Bunnell said he expected the report of the committee to be filed within a few days. He refused to reveal the identity of the complainant. The complaint charges that screenings, which are low grades of rye, were put into the elevator instead of the best quality.

BANKER GUILTY OF GRAND LARCENY

Minneapolis, June 21.—(UP)—A Hennepin county district court jury today found Edward D. Berkner, Sleepy Eye, Minn., banker, guilty of grand larceny.

CARDINALS IN CONQUERING HEROES ROLE

COMPLETE MOST SUCCESSFUL TOUR THROUGHOUT EAST

NOW TURN HOMEWARD IN VIRTUAL TIE FOR SECOND PLACE

PIRATES ONLY HALF A GAME BEHIND THE CINCINNATI REDS

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, June 21.—Completing the most successful eastern invasion made by a St. Louis National League club, the Cardinals have turned homeward in a virtual tie for second place, with the Pittsburgh Pirates only a half game behind the league-leading Cincinnati Reds.

The Cardinals played twelve games with the Phillies, Giants, Robins and Braves and lost only one, dropping the opening battle of the series with Brooklyn.

Four shut-outs were among the 11 victories, "Lefty" Sherdel twice blanking his opponents and Rheim and Haines once each. Vic Keen and H. Bell rounded out what is undoubtedly the most effective pitching staff in the big leagues at this part of the season.

Those who fancy the Cardinals to win the National League pennant are pointing out that the sensational climb on the eastern trip from sixth place to the present contending position was accomplished without the customary batting power of the club's leading sluggers, Rogers Hornsby and Jim Bottomley, both of whom are more than 50 points below their usual averages.

Spotty pitching has handicapped the world's champion Pirates. The Robins, Giants and Cubs, still very much in the race, also have played erratic ball and with six teams in the running, the pennant chase should continue to be a gamble.

The Yankees, despite a mediocre record against western clubs, are returning to the east with a 9½ game lead over Cleveland and Chicago. The celebrated attack of the Huguenots faltered somewhat on the western invasion.

Watching the Scoreboard

Yesterday's Hero—Lefty Sherdel. Cardinal's pitcher, who allowed the Robins only two hits, both by Standart, and hurled a 9 to 0 shutout.

Miller bested Heinemann in a pitching duel and the Indians beat the Red Sox 1 to 0.

The Pirates made it three out of four over New York, when Aldridge pitched an 8 to 0 shutout.

Yankee errors gave Chicago a 4 to 3 victory, evening the series.

The Reds and Cubs broke even in a double bill, Chicago winning the nightcap 4 to 3 after dropping the first game 5 to 1.

The Browns rallied in the seventh and ninth innings to defeat Washington 5 to 4. It was Walter Johnson's seventh straight defeat.

The Athletics made six errors in a game which the Tigers won 8 to 3.

Long Driver Reveals Reasons for Feat

Edward Blackwell, one of the world's longest hitters of a golf ball, gives the following four reasons why he is a long driver:

"In the first place I am a big, strong man; secondly, I use a big, powerful club; thirdly, I have a perfect swing, and, lastly, I hit as hard as I jolly well can."

Here are all the chief factors that go toward long driving. They are not very illuminating, neither are the simple formulas of Chick Evans and Ted Ray that the secret of long driving is just plain hard hitting.

GOLF PERFECTED BY PRACTICING

"Natural Born" Player Is Unknown to Game.

"I don't believe there is anything in golf that could be called natural," writes Bill Alves, a pro. "The game from start to finish is completely foreign to the muscles and athletic living conditions of the human."

"I can't say that I have ever known a golfer to be 'natural born.' Golf, to my way of thinking, must be acquired. The rhythm, swing, stance, backstroke, follow-through, et al., are out of our daily routine."

"To throw, to catch, to kick, etc., are only natural. Where does the golf stroke show up in the daily life?"

"Golf is only perfected through practice. It is a game to which we must accustom ourselves through practice."

"The side swing is confusing, also trying to hit something lying on the ground is very muddling, inasmuch as the player doesn't move. Success would probably be more rapid if one could take a running start at the ball. He would start that momentum, which unconsciously puts weight behind the ball."

"All the best amateurs and professionals of today couldn't play any better than the average golfer when they started out at the game."

"Golf became a study with them and they developed their game far faster than the player who thinks he cannot play golf and will never learn. Hagen, Jones, Barnes, and the rest were just as big dubs as the modern dub of today."

"Golf, they say, is like a business, often it can be learned in a short length of time if the player would start learning the game instead of playing it."

TENNIS STARS OF ALL NATIONS AT WIMBLEDON

KING GEORGE AND QUEEN MARY AT JUBILEE EXERCISES

TO PRESENT SOUVENIR MEDALS TO 40 MEN AND WOMEN CHAMPIONS

Wimbledon, England, June 21.—(UP)—Tennis stars of all nations gathered today at Wimbledon, celebrating the 50th anniversary of its tennis history.

"It was 'Royal Wimbledon' today with King George and Queen Mary on hand for the jubilee exercises, and to present souvenir medals to some 40 men and women who were champions on the courts here in former days."

The skies held a threat of rain as the ceremonies began but the weather was the warmest the American players have encountered since their arrival in England.

Even without the service of Helen Wills, "Big Bill" Tilden and "Little Bill" Johnston, the Americans were expected to take one or more of the championships to be decided here. Aside from that trio, the Australian stars and Rene La Coste, who is not defending his singles title, the greatest players in the world will compete.

Prior to the opening of play, an international women's doubles exhibition match was scheduled, Suzanne Lenglen of France and her former doubles partner, Elizabeth Ryan of California, will meet Mlle. De Alvarez of Spain and Mrs. Kitty McKane of Godfree of England.

Then the first round of men's singles will begin, one of the first matches bringing together Howard Kinsey of California and C. P. Dixon of England.

Vincent Richards of New York and Henri Cochet of France were favored for the men's championship. Mlle. Lenglen was an overwhelming favorite to retain the women's singles title. Mrs. Godfree, Senorita De Alvarez and Miss Ryan were regarded as her strongest opponents.

BASEBALL SQUIBS

Walter Johnson is apparently on his way to another 20-victory season.

Sportsmen's park, home of the St. Louis Browns, now seats 30,000 fans.

Walter Johnson still holds the American league record for wild pitches—21 in the season of 1910.

Southpaw Jess Petty the sensational hurler of the Brooklyn Robins has speed, a change of pace and control.

Los Angeles will admit women free of charge to all games at Wrigley park, its magnificent new playing field.

The games of many baseball leagues and numerous athletic events now are broadcast by radio throughout the United States.

The University of Pennsylvania and Gettysburg college baseball teams have renewed relations after a lapse of twenty years.

Al Nixon, who jumped the Philadelphia Nationals three seasons ago, has been reinstated and has signed a contract with the Phils.

Willie Keeler, one of the greatest baseball players of his day, always claimed that a scientific batter could outwit most of the so-called great pitchers.

Benny Meyers, the loud-voiced coach of the Phillies, is as noisy as ever. Last year Benny shouted the Phillies into a tie for sixth place with the Robins.

Jose Olivares, speedy Cuban infielder, has been sent by the Louisville American association team to the Columbus (Ga.) team of the South-eastern league under option.

Baseball is having its most successful season in Honolulu. More than 100 teams are contesting there in about two dozen leagues in which more than 2,000 players are enrolled.

Dallas has released Chet Chadbourne, veteran outfielder. He is still a valuable player, but the Steers are well fixed in the outfield with Parry O'Brien back from the Athletics.

Violin Bows
The wood used for making the best violin bows comes from the swampy forests of Brazil.

Girl Is Tennis Pro

Above is pictured Miss Eleanor Tennant, star tennis player, who has deserted the ranks of the amateurs and signed a contract as professional to take charge of the tennis activities at two of the fashionable hotels in Pasadena and Beverly Hills.

Sport Notes

Jack Dempsey has probably forgotten what the gong sounds like.

The Ohio State stadium is being sodded for the football games in the fall.

Well, we are going to have Lenglen for a spell, and we suppose she will bring a trunkful of bandeaux with her.

A national basket-ball federation of 50 clubs, corresponding to the A. A. U. in the United States, has been formed in Italy.

The University of Michigan has won four indoor and four outdoor track championships since Steve Farrell became coach.

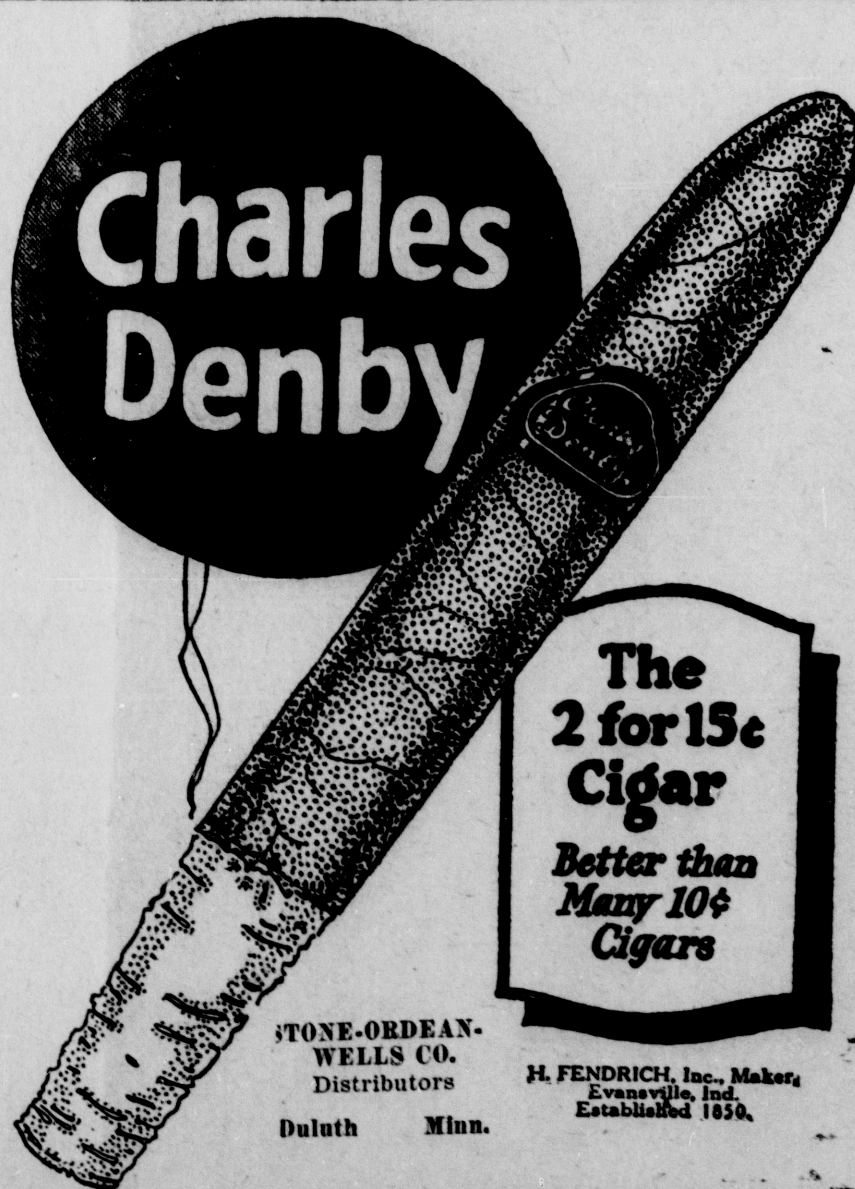

The Pennsylvania Military college at Chester, will shortly start the construction of a modern athletic stadium. It will seat 7,000.

Harry Herbert, who broke his neck while playing quarterback for Syracuse, is among the candidates for Boston University's 1928 football team.

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., does not understand baseball and does not play golf. Horseback riding and squash tennis furnish his chief diversions.

PASTOR ENJOYS EASTERN TRIP

Rev. August Samuelson of Clara Lutheran Church Was Delegate to Conference

AUGUSTANA SYNOD MET

He Also Attended the Philadelphia Sesqui Centennial Exhibition

Rev. August Samuelson pastor of the Clara Lutheran church has returned from Philadelphia and other points East where he was a delegate from the Brainerd district to the Augustana Synodical conference of Lutheran churches which was held June 8 to 14. He also attended the Philadelphia Sesqui Centennial but states that although wonderful buildings have been erected, thousands of disappointed people have returned to their homes as the celebration will not be ready for the entertainment of the vast throngs that are expected until the latter part of July at least. He also attended a program that was rendered by the Sons and Daughters of Sweden in the auditorium on the exposition grounds.

He was one of a group of seven hundred passengers that took an excursion trip to Wilmington, Del., landing on the same historic rocks as the Swedes in 1638. Here, Chief Strong Wolf, welcomed the party and later they attended short services in the oldest Swede church in the country.

The most important session of the convention was held on Wednesday and resolutions were adopted to separate Augustana college and Augustana Theological seminary and place them under separate boards, the seminary to be supported by the synod and the college to be taken over by the Illinois, Superior and Iowa conferences. The establishing of the new Northland conference was deferred until more territory can be added to this proposed conference. On Sunday afternoon the ordination of 15 candidates for the ministry was held. The next meeting of the synod will be held in Omaha, Neb., in June 1927.

He also visited Arlington cemetery where 50,000 soldiers are interred and saw the grave of the unknown soldier which is guarded day and night. He saw the tomb of and the cathedral in which Woodrow Wilson is buried and Mount Vernon the home of Washington and the historic Potomac both whose beauties are beyond comparison.

He visited the battlefield of Gettysburg and says that the sight is worth the lengthy trip alone. It comprises 38 square miles or some 4,000 acres and one cannot help but feel in its environment the price and pride of true Americanism.

He visited in Washington, D. C., seeing all places of interest including the Washington monument, Lincoln's memorial, The White House, National capitol, Smithsonian Institute, Library of Congress and the National Museum where the latest Roosevelt collection is on display. At the bureau of engraving he watched paper money in the making. It takes thirty days to make one bill, 18,000,000 being completed every day, seven days to make one postage stamp and 60,000,000 are completed daily.

While in Philadelphia he saw the original Declaration of Independence, the Liberty bell which is guarded by two Marines in Independence hall, Benjamin Franklin's grave, Old Christ church, which was made famous by Paul Revere's ride and also Gloria Dei a Swedish church which is over 226 years old.

In Chicago he saw the parade of the papal delegates to the Eucharist congress which lasted for fully three-quarters of an hour.

He is very enthusiastic over his journey and has brought back with him lasting memories of the countless historical places of interest that he visited but is glad to be back home and in Brainerd again.

LARGEST VOTE IN CITY'S HISTORY

Expected in Primary and Special Election Being Held Today

VOTING STARTED SLOWLY

Recall Election of Mayor Cain Largely Responsible For Interest Shown

While voting was slow at the different polling places in the city early this morning, renewed activity at the different precincts near noon revealed that one of the largest polls in the history of Brainerd voting is to be cast today in the primary election.

The recall election of Mayor George A. Cain is responsible to a large extent for the large poll. The turn of events in the last few days in the inauguration of a sticker campaign for F. E. Little to oppose Mayor Cain for the office has created much interest among the voters.

Mayor Cain's followers predict that a sticker campaign can never go over but the feeling among those opposed to his administration is that it can safely be put across. They cite the recall election in Little Falls in which the present mayor there was drafted for the position on a "sticker campaign."

At 3 a. m. the total vote cast in the fifth ward was 276.

The first ward had recorded 168 votes.

Of the two precincts in the second ward, the polling place at the library cast 159 votes and at the old court house 234.

TO REMODEL BETHANY CHURCH

Work Progressing Very Rapidly Under Direction of Victor Carlson, Contractor

LARGE CREW AT WORK

Brick Walls Removed by Church Members, Brick Cleaned by Sunday School Children

The work of remodeling the Swedish Bethany church, corner of South Ninth and Maple streets started last week and is progressing very rapidly under the direction of Victor Carlson, who has a large crew of men at work.

The brick walls were removed by members of the congregation and the brick was cleaned and piled, by the Sunday school children last week. The church has been raised 17 inches and the work of excavating a full basement is now under way. When this is completed, new windows will be put in and the outside walls will be finished in gray Kelstone which will give it a very neat appearance.

The congregation has had this work under consideration for some time and have been working hard to build up a building fund, for which Rev. P. G. Fallquist has done considerable soliciting outside of Brainerd. Final decision to proceed with the work was reached on June 7th, and the work was started last Monday and will be pushed as fast as possible.

The building committee members are: Rev. P. G. Fallquist and Arthur T. Anderson.

Other officers of the church are:

Chairman—John Lund.

Vice chairman—John Soderlund.

Secretary—Albert O. Anderson.

OLD WEATHER AFFECTS PEONIES

Date of Crow Wing County Garden Flower Society Show Held in Abeyance

L. P. HALL IN STORY

Large Grower Comments on Effect of Dry Weather on Growing Bulbs

W. F. Christman, of Robbinsdale, Minn., secretary of the American Peony society, in a letter to L. P. Hall who in turn submitted it to the Crow Wing Garden Flower society, writes in part as follows regarding the growing of peonies this season:

"As you doubtless know we have had a very dry, peculiar season for the peony and as a result we are experiencing some strange happenings. Some late varieties are blooming in advance of the earlier kinds and the bloom is so short lived. We pick flowers for the market and in a day or so they are falling. We have picked flowers in bud for the flower market and when they are put in water and put in the ice box they open up in spite of the cold. I am a little afraid we will have considerable trouble at our shows. I have about despaired of trying to show at all but we will do what we can. We will not get the results that we usually get from cold storage conditions due to the extremely dry weather and lack of moisture and substance of bloom. They seemed to open up all at once from practically hard buds. In spite of the late season we had flowers in bloom June 1, as early as in many years."

Mr. Hall writes as follows to the members of the Crow Wing Garden Flower Society:

"The same conditions which Mr. Christman enumerates are becoming prevalent in this section and I be-

NEW TAILORED BLOUSES

Just Arrived This Morning

This neat blouse is made in a mannish tailored style, has a one inch plait down the front, fastened with pretty pearl buttons and has groups of cluster tucks on each side. Smart high collar and long sleeves, finished with turn back cuffs. Being made from good quality white broadcloth, makes a splendid blouse.

Another smart blouse is made from fine white broadcloth which adapts itself to this style with ease. The outstanding effect of this blouse is its unusual double breasted style which is emphasized by two groups of narrow cluster tucks on each side of the center plait. A neat notched collar and long sleeves make this a smart blouse.

Knickers for Sportwear

Well tweed Kenilworth knickers are so sensible and comfortable for sport and outdoor wear that they become more popular each year. These well fitting knickers made so that they have plenty of room and still have a trim, neat look. Splendid value at $3.50.

Profits and the Employee

An employee of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), who, under the first Stock Purchasing Plan, initiated five years ago, invested $1,000 of his earnings, received this year stock to the value of $2,150. Thus, the man who invested $1,000 realized a profit of $1,150.

A safe investment, involving no risk, yielding a profit of 115%—that is the result of the financial opportunity offered by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), through its first Stock Purchasing Plan, to each of its 29,000 employees who had been in service for one year.

A new Stock Purchasing Plan, similar to the first, is now in effect.

The Stock Purchasing Plan means more than a purely financial opportunity to the employee. It makes him a partner in the business. The great purpose of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) becomes his purpose. Its creed of service becomes his creed of service.

The employee who makes himself a stock owner of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has a personal pride in every achievement of the Company.

It is a pardonable pride, for his best efforts are devoted to the work of the Company; his savings are a part of its capital, and his unwavering loyalty is a part of its staunch support.

Money earned by hard work and saved by careful thrift, invested in Standard Oil Company (Indiana) stock, implies a profound faith and loyal confidence in the Company.

Through the Stock Purchasing Plan the relationship between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and its employees is strengthened and built firmly on a foundation of mutual co-operation. The state of interdependence that exists between them is emphasized.

The employee depends upon the Company for the great fundamental necessity, a life work—and for the sympathetic understanding and appreciation that make work a joy.

The Company depends upon the employee for creative power of mind and muscle, for faith and loyalty, and the enthusiasm that conquers every difficulty.

By helping individual employees to achieve greater security and success, through the Stock Purchasing Plan, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) believes that it is helping the organization itself to grow in efficiency and power, with resulting benefits accruing directly to the people whom it serves.

AMUSEMENTS

Rex Beach's "Auction Block" at the Lyceum

With Rex Beach's "The Auction Block" the attraction at the Lyceum Theatre on Tuesday and Wednesday, Hobart Henley returns to the small town atmosphere of the early productions which made him famous.

CHARLES RYAN and ELEANOR BOARDMAN
IN "THE AUCTION BLOCK"

Most of the story of "The Auction Block" takes place in the small town of Palmdale, South Carolina. It contains all the petty jealousies, the undercurrents of ill-feeling, as well as the good heartedness and generosity of a small town, and as Henley demonstrated with "The Flirt," he is particularly capable of transferring this atmosphere to pictures.

We thought he was never in Simla long enough at a time to get the intimate knowledge of the social atmosphere which his writings portrayed. And we concluded, rightly or wrongly, that he was greatly helped in this respect by his clever little sister, who spent several seasons running at Simla.

It was she, I think, who told us that her brother used to walk down the road to Jutogh, where was stationed a British battery of mountain artillery, and that on the road he used to stop and converse with British soldiers, and thus got many of his quaint expressions and turns of language. He used to do the same at Lahore, going down to the fort to meet the soldiers.

And now for a curious thing. I myself had served for many years with soldiers, but had never once heard the expressions that Rudyard Kipling's soldiers used. Many a time did I ask my brother officers whether they had ever heard them. No, never.

But, sure enough, a few years after the soldiers thought, talked and expressed themselves exactly like Rudyard Kipling had taught them in his stories. He would get a stray word here or a stray expression there, and weave them into soldier talk, in his priceless stories. Rudyard Kipling made the modern soldier.—From "A Soldier's Memories in Peace and War," by Maj. Gen. Sir George Younghusband.

Reviving Ancient Avignon

After Avignon became part of France, during the first French revolution, it was the scene of many horrible massacres and retaliatory massacres. In 1822 degradation may be said to have been complete, for the Palais des Papes itself was turned into a barracks, and served this use for nearly a hundred years. Since 1906 a serious attempt at restoration has been going on. Recently the palace was opened as a museum, to which interesting objects are being added regularly. The first collection to be started for it was a series of effigies of the popes. Copies were made of those on their tombs and brought to the new museum, several being presented by M. Colomb, conservator of the palace for the past seventeen years. Others have been given by the French government, by Czechoslovakia and by M. Theunls, ex-premier of Belgium.

Billions in Other Worlds

In the vast universe in which the earth is a mere atom there are perhaps 60,000,000,000,000,000 people. At least that is what the figures of Prof. Frederick H. Seares of the Mount Wilson observatory indicate. For he has counted 80,000,000,000 suns, each of which has at least one attending world. Allowing 2,000,000,000 people—the estimated population of the earth—for each of the worlds, he arrives at the staggering total above.

Professor Seares recently completed counting the stars in the heavens. This seemingly impossible task, says Popular Science Monthly, he accomplished by mathematical calculations, although he could not see, even with the most powerful telescope, 97 per cent of them.

Venerable Artists' Model

One of the busiest and most capable artists' models in Italy today is a man more than eighty years old. He lives in Rome, and is considered by native and visiting painters and sculptors as the model par excellence.

The young-old man can hold the most difficult pose for hours at a time, scarcely seeming to move a muscle. To him, remaining still is no hardship. For the last sixty years he has been exploiting his natural gift, and in this time he has enacted virtually all of the immortals known for their physical prowess and beauty.

Every muscle in his body is said to be as controlled as a pianist's fingers, and he keeps in trim by taking a daily dip in the Tiber.

Backed Losing Party

Active partisanship in the Bianchi, a political faction which was prominent in the Guelph-Ghibelline feuds in Tuscany at the beginning of the Thirteenth century, was the cause of Dante's banishment from Florence in 1301.

Bebe Travels at High Speed in New Comedy

"The Palm Beach Girl," which is now showing at the Lyceum, is a rapid fire mixture of mirth and motion, further enlivened by the most exhilarating and refreshing performance Bebe Daniels has ever contributed.

Clark Oldfield Vandeville Co. at New Park Theatre

The New Park theatre has announced a special attraction for Tuesday night June 22. It is the well known Clark Oldfield Vandeville Co. in a brand new miniature musical comedy featuring Oldfield's genuine native Hawaiian dancers, singers, and instrumentalists.

This is one of the cleanest and most entertaining attractions of its kind on the road today and should play to a packed house at the New Park Tuesday night. A feature comedy picture will be run in connection with the stage attraction. There will be two shows starting at 7 and 9 o'clock.

Health in New Zealand

Statistics indicate that the people of New Zealand come nearer the attainment of perfect health than the inhabitants of any other country.

Keep Out

A criminologist says that jails are a prolific source of crime. That should be a warning to avoid them.

Old German City Sinking

Oelsnitz is sinking and not one house in this ancient town in Saxony remains perpendicular. It is believed that new subterranean streams are undermining the entire section and that it is only a matter of time until all buildings must be abandoned. Whole blocks have dropped about ten feet, the cellars immediately filling with water. Other buildings are five feet out of plumb, making them resemble miniature Pisa towers. Geologists have gone to Oelsnitz to investigate the causes with the view of finding methods of draining the hidden streams should the trouble come from that source.

Court Bars Short Gowns

Skirts must fall within six inches of the ground at the conservative Swedish court. In fact, all the ladies who are actually attached to the court wear black gowns with trains three yards long on official occasions. The sleeves to these official gowns are short and of white satin. Foreign women appearing at the Swedish court may wear any color they prefer, but their gowns are supposed to fall down on the ankles.

First British Telephone

Probably the first telephone fitted in a British house was one installed at Plymouth under the supervision of Alexander Graham Bell. This apparatus is now in Plymouth museum.
